SELECTING A SUMMER CAMP

Questions to Ask when Selecting a Summer Camp

YOU AND YOUR CHILD

• What do want your child to get from a camp experience?
• What does your child want to get from a camp experience?
• Is your child ready for a day camp or a sleepaway camp?

CAMP DIRECTOR AND STAFF

• Who is the camp director and what are his or her qualifications?
• What kind of screening process does the camp use to select staff?
• What are the staff members’ qualifications and how are they supervised?
• If there is an educational or remedial program, is it staffed by licensed professionals?
• Are any staff members multilingual?
• What is the professional staff-to-camper ratio?
• How does staff address behavioral problems?
• How does camp staff respond to a child’s fear of or resistance to a new or intense activity (for example: swimming, horseback riding, boating)?

CAMP PROGRAM

• What is the overall philosophy of the camp? What are their goals for the campers?
• What is a typical day like? What are the activities? Do campers choose their activities?
• Is one-to-one assistance or instruction provided for some activities?
• What do campers do on a rainy day? Do they stay at camp or visit other facilities?
• What is the range of abilities and disabilities of the campers?
• Would you like your child to be included with campers without disabilities for all or part of the day?
• How does the program meet individual campers’ needs?
• What percentage of campers return?
SELECTING A SUMMER CAMP

CAMP SETTING

- What is the overall layout of the camp?
- Are the buildings and equipment safe, well-lit, and in good repair?
- What are the facilities like for indoor and outdoor sports and games, and are they accessible to campers with physical disabilities?
- Where are the kitchen and dining areas? Do campers and staff eat together?
- What is the procedure for medication administration? Medical emergencies?
- How will your child get to camp? Is transportation provided?
- What type of access do parents or caregivers have once their child is at camp? Is there a visitors’ day? Can a visit be arranged on non-visitor’s days? Are phone calls, computers, cell phones, or email access allowed?
- Where are bathroom and shower facilities? Are they kept in sanitary condition?
- What medical facilities are available at/to the camp?
- Are there laundry facilities available?

OTHER THINGS TO CONSIDER

- Is the camp licensed by the NYC Department of Health and Mental Hygiene? You can find out by visiting: www.nyc.gov/html/doh/html/living/camp.shtml
- Is the camp accredited by the American Camping Association? You can find out by visiting: find.acacamps.org
- What is the procedure for medication administration? Medical emergencies?
- How will your child get to camp? Is transportation provided?
- What type of access do parents or caregivers have once their child is at camp? Is there a visitors’ day? Can a visit be arranged on non-visitor’s days? Are phone calls, computers, cell phones, or email access allowed?
- How does the camp share campers’ progress with parents, caregivers, and/or schools after the camp season?
- What payment options does the camp offer?
- What other useful information can you, the parent or caregiver, share with the camp?
SELECTING A SUMMER CAMP

FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE INFORMATION

• Start early to find funding for your child

Speak to the program to see if they offer financial assistance or scholarships. If they don’t, ask them if they know where previous participants have received aid.

If your child has a documented developmental disability, you can call the Developmental Disabilities Regional Office (DDRO) in your borough to see if there is any money available through their “Family Reimbursement” funds.

Queens: (718) 217-5890
Brooklyn: (718) 642-6000
Manhattan: (646) 766-3222
Bronx: (718) 430-0885
Staten Island: (718) 983-5233

If your child is receiving self-directed Office for People With Developmental Disabilities (OPWDD) services, you can get funding for camps and community classes that are open to the public. Contact your self-direction coordinator or borough self-direction liaison for more information.

For more information, call our free Help Line at (212) 677-4660.

Episode 1: Defining Disability
Dr. Jessica Bacon from Montclair State University and Lori Podvesker from INCLUDEnyc explore how the opportunities, experiences, and education available to people with disabilities are shaped by the lens through which society views disability. They call on each of us to rethink our definition of disability.

Episode 2: Advocacy, Activism, and the Future
Susan Scheer, CEO at the Institute of Career Development and founder of ACCESS-A-RIDE, and Jean Mizutani of INCLUDEnyc discuss key legislation, such as the Americans with Disabilities Act, and other laws born of the vigorous activism of people with disabilities and their allies.

Episode 3: Unprepared: How People with Disabilities Paved the Way for Emergency Preparedness in NYC
Susan Dooha, Executive Director at The Center for Independence of the Disabled, NYC (CIDNY) and Ruth DiRoma of INCLUDEnyc discuss the movement to ensure that all New Yorkers are safe during emergencies and what the future holds after Hurricane Sandy.

Episode 4: Student Data, Privacy, and the Internet Age
Leonie Haimson, one of New York’s most influential education advocates and proponent of small class sizes, and Jean Mizutani of INCLUDEnyc address the challenge of controlling student data without adequate regulatory safeguards in education, today’s most data-mineable industry.

Episode 5: Restorative Justice in Action in NYC Schools
Kailani Capote, Restorative Justice Coordinator at New York Peace Institute, shares her experiences implementing restorative justice at a Harlem high school with Colin Montgomery of INCLUDEnyc. Restorative justice practices aim to limit school suspensions and equip students and staff with social, emotional, and conflict resolution tools.

Episode 6: Obtaining High Quality Special Education Services in an Imperfect World
Oroma Mpi-Reynolds, education lawyer and parent, explores the impact of race, culture, and socioeconomic status on special education with Kpana Kpoto of INCLUDEnyc. Listen as they discuss the inequities in the special education system and how to ensure high quality supports and services despite them.
